

Scholars can apply now for the American Research Center in Egypt's fellowship program! In ARCE's 70-year history, our fellowship program has benefitted over 700 scholars, who have produced an influential and substantial portion of all American scholarly output on Egypt since 1957.

Fellowships are open to fields of study including: anthropology, archaeology, architecture, art history, Coptic studies, economics, Egyptology, history, humanistic social sciences, Islamic studies, literature, political science and religious studies. The application deadline is January 15, 2018.

Fellowships provide funding for round-trip air transportation and living and research-related costs in Egypt. They are available to pre- and post-doctoral American scholars to conduct exploratory research in Egypt for up to one year. The bulk of ARCE fellowships are funded by the U.S. Department of State, Bureau of Educational and Cultural Affairs through the Council of American Overseas Research Centers. Several additional fellowships are provided by the National Endowment for the Humanities.

<http://arce.org/grants/fellowships/funded>