

Position Information: Requisition Number 1400685

Job Title: Assistant Professor

Department: Art and Archaeology - 20100

Position Summary: Art Historian/Archaeologist. Department of Art and Archaeology, Princeton University. Assistant Professor, Tenure Track. Egyptian Art and Archaeology, with a preference for candidates with a research interest in the Ptolemaic Period. It is expected that teaching at the undergraduate level will cover the broad range of Egyptian art history with respect to both chronology and media; graduate seminars will focus primarily on areas of specialization. Collaboration with Princeton's interdepartmental Program in the Ancient World is expected. Ph.D. by start date and teaching experience are expected; publication record is an advantage.

Apply online at: <http://www.princeton.edu/jobs> with cover letter, CV, three letters of recommendation, and one article or chapter-length sample of scholarly writing. For fullest consideration apply by December 1.

This position is subject to the University's background check policy.

Essential Qualifications: Ph.D. by start date.

Preferred Qualifications: Teaching experience is expected; publication record is an advantage.

Directory Title: Art Historian/Archaeologist, Egyptian art

Application Deadline: Open Until Filled or See Position Summary.

Instructions for Applying: Complete the online application and click "Apply to this Posting" at the top of the posting details page.

Documents which can be associated with this posting: Resume/CV; Cover Letter; Other Document 1; Other Document 2

Proposed Start Date: 09-01-2015

Princeton University is an equal opportunity employer and all qualified applicants will receive consideration for employment without regard to race, color, religion, sex, national origin, disability status, protected veteran status, or any other characteristic protected by law.