

JOB: University Lecturer in Classical Rabbinic Literature (tenure-track equivalent), University of Cambridge

The Faculty of Divinity, West Road, Cambridge, invites applications for a University Lectureship in Classical Rabbinic Literature (Grade 9, £39,324 to £49,772). Candidates, whose research specialism may be in any field of Classical Rabbinic Literature, with a research specialism in the texts, thought, and history of classical rabbinic Judaism, encompassing the timespan from the redaction of the Mishnah to the redaction of the Babylonian Talmud, should have a doctorate in the field.

The person appointed will be expected to undertake high quality research in Rabbinics, to teach for the Tripos, Diploma and the MPhil, to supervise doctoral students, and to undertake some administration. The postholder will be based in the Faculty of Divinity, West Road, Cambridge.

Candidates should be able to take up the post on 1 September 2017. The appointment will be subject to five years' probation.

Applications should be submitted by 6 January 2017.

Instructions for submitting applications and for obtaining further particulars can be found here: <http://www.jobs.cam.ac.uk/job/12027/>

Additional information about the Faculty is available on the Divinity Faculty website: <http://www.divinity.cam.ac.uk/>