

Jewish Theological Seminary
Assistant Professor of Rabbinic Literatures

The Jewish Theological Seminary (JTS) is seeking a dynamic and creative assistant professor of rabbinic literatures and culture, including Talmud and Midrash. The candidate should have a passion for teaching and be engaged with current methodologies in the study of rabbinic history and literatures. The ideal candidate is an accomplished scholar and teacher who is committed to the mission of JTS (<http://www.jtsa.edu/mission>).

The position is a three-year, non-tenure track, renewable position, with all the rights, responsibilities, and benefits of a full-time faculty appointment, beginning July 1, 2018. Candidates must have PhD in hand by July 1, 2018. Teaching will be principally in the JTS Rabbinical School, Kekst Graduate School, List College, and other programs of JTS.

Please send a letter of application, current CV, relevant publications, and the names and email addresses of three referees who can speak to your scholarship and teaching to:
<RabbinicsSearch@JTSA.EDU> or to Rabbinics Search, Box 24, JTS, 3080 Broadway, New York, NY 10027.

Applications received by October 20, 2017 will be given full consideration. JTS welcomes applications from all qualified applicants without regard to race, color, disability, age, sex, national origin, marital status, veteran status, sexual orientation, gender identity or any other factors as prohibited by law.