

The Summer School of Oriental Languages (Université d'été en Langues de l'Orient) will be at Venice (Italy) between 4-13 August 2016.

It is organized by Georges Bohas (ENS de Lyon, France), Laurent Colonna d'Istria (University of Liège, Belgium), Eric Crégheur (University Laval, Québec-Canada) and David Hamidovic (University of Lausanne, Switzerland).

Numerous oriental languages are proposed at different levels as Akkadian, Arabic, Armenian, Chinese, Coptic, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Persian, Syriac, Turk.

More on <http://www.unil.ch/getactu/wwwftsr/1405427975725/>

The registration fees are : 250 euros for student, 300 euros for retired, 400 euros for the others.

Single rooms are available for a terrific price : 50 euros/night

The board of the Summer School is glad to announce four scholarships for Ph.D. students:

1. One scholarship in Syriac corresponding to the registration fees.
First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).
2. One scholarship in Coptic corresponding to the registration fees.
First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).
3. One scholarship in Armenian corresponding to the registration fees.
First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).
4. One scholarship in Persian corresponding to the registration fees.
First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).