

The Summer School of Oriental Languages (Université d'été en Langues de l'Orient) will be at Venice (Italy), Island San Servolo, 6-15 July 2017.

It is organized the University of Lausanne (Switzerland) in partnership with the University of Liège (Belgium), the University Laval, Québec (Canada), the University Ca'Foscari (Venice) and Venice International University.

Numerous oriental languages are proposed at different levels as Akkadian, Arabic, Palmyrenian Aramaic, Armenian, Coptic, Hieroglyphic Egyptian, Ethiopic, Classical Greek, Hebrew, Latin, Greek, Hebrew, Persian, Phoenician and Punic, Sanskrit, Syriac, Turk.

More on

<https://www.unil.ch/ftsr/fr/home/menuinst/enseignement/universite-dete.html>

The registration fees are : 250 euros for students and PhD candidates, 400 euros for the others. Accommodation is available with terrific price

The board of the Summer School is glad to announce four scholarships for students:

1. Two scholarships in Coptic corresponding to the registration fees. First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship)
2. One scholarship in Armenian corresponding to the registration fees. First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).
3. One scholarship in Persian corresponding to the registration fees. First registered online, first serve. (Please add in the part "comments" of the application, you postulate for this scholarship).