

Vanderbilt University
Assistant Professor of the Practice of Hebrew Language Instruction

Jewish Studies
Location: Nashville

Open Date: Nov 12, 2018
Close Date: Jan 15, 2019

Description

The Program in Jewish Studies at Vanderbilt University invites applications for a full-time, non-tenure track Assistant Professor of the Practice of Hebrew Language Instruction beginning the 2019-20 academic year. Responsibilities will include teaching Hebrew language courses, curriculum development, and active promotion of the Hebrew program. Initial three-year contract is renewable. Teaching load 2/2.

The position requires a Ph.D in a related field. Native or near-native fluency in Hebrew and English; demonstrated excellence in the teaching of Hebrew language and in the effective application of current technologies to foreign language learning. Candidates with a background in second language acquisition will be given special consideration.

Applications, including cover letter, CV, teaching philosophy (and evidence of effectiveness), and three letters of reference should be submitted here: <https://apply.interfolio.com/57555>. Applications will be accepted until the position is filled.

Vanderbilt University has a strong institutional commitment to recruiting and retaining an academically and culturally diverse community of faculty. Minorities, women, individuals with disabilities, and members of other underrepresented groups, in particular, are encouraged to apply. Vanderbilt is an Equal Opportunity/Affirmative Action employer.